

Northwest January News

Important Dates to Remember

Monday, January 15th, 2018 – Martin Luther King Jr. Day – Schools Closed

Thursday, January 18th, 2018 – Northwest Winter Wonderland @ 6:30 p.m.

Friday, January 19th, 2018- School Spirit Day – Career Day

Attendance

Your child's attendance in school is one of the keys to academic success. Regular attendance is the #1 predictor of high school graduation and routines for regular attendance start in elementary school. It is important that your child attend school daily and arrive on time.

New Year's Resolutions

The beginning of a new year is a great time to have a fresh start. Encourage your child to set an academic New Year resolution goal. Your child could set a goal of practicing their math facts every night to build fact fluency. Your child could set a goal to read every night for 30 minutes. Perhaps your child will set a goal for both reading and math! Whatever he/she decides, please encourage them to work on this goal every night!

Winter Weather has Arrived!

Please be sure your child leaves in the morning dressed for the weather conditions. Dressing in layers is always a good idea. A heavy winter jacket, gloves, and hats should become part of their standard attire. Students will be going outside during recess as much as possible (weather permitting).

School Closings & Delays

Winter has arrived and there is always that chance of snow! If inclement weather causes Amityville Schools to close or have a delayed opening, please visit the district website: Amityvilleufsd.org and/or listen to the following radio/TV stations:

Radio

Walk 97.5 FM/1370 AM WBAB 102.3 FM

WBLI 106.1 FM WINS 1010 AM WOR 710 AM

TV Stations

Channels 2, 4, 7, and 12

January Book Recommendations

- The Jacket I Wear in the Snow written by Shirley Neitzel
- Snowmen at Night written by Caralyn Buehner
- The Mitten written by Jan Brett
- The First Day of Winter written by Denise Fleming
- Tacky the Penguin written by Helen Lester
- Snow written by Uri Shulevitz

Amityville Public Library is free to join!